SHORT BIO:

Whether it's discovering the new ramen spot on Pearl Street, attending a show at the Boulder Theater, or joining friends on a rooftop for happy hour, Sherrie Figueroa feels fortunate to call Boulder, Colorado home. Her affinity for local traditions and her desire to shine a spotlight on the individuals who are part of Boulder's electricity and vibe is the foundation of The Boulderista. When she's not interviewing local influencers or working with real estate clients, Sherrie's avid interests include dance, travel and spending time with her obnoxiously cute kids and husband, Eric. Originally from Miami Beach, not a day passes where she doesn't feel gratitude for the experiences and connections she's made in Boulder.
